

[illegible]

The diagram illustrates a video player interface. On the left, a rectangular box represents the video player. It has a large white area for the video content and a black control bar at the bottom. The control bar contains a play button (a circle with a right-pointing triangle), a progress bar (a horizontal bar with a grey fill and a white slider), a volume icon (a speaker), and a fullscreen icon (a square with four arrows pointing outwards). To the right of the video player is a square with a black border and a large 'X' inside, indicating a missing or broken image.

